

New I-9 EAPF Trapping

A new trapping has been created that will give the user a hard error message if a new I-9 form is required. The regulations require that if an employee has not had an active job for three years or greater, they must (upon rehire) complete a new I-9 form. This trapping is designed to alert the user that the I-9 currently on file is no longer active and a new one must be processed.